FOREWORD

This, the twenty-first volume of The Polyscope, is the result of an earnest attempt to record the activities of our new four-year college, to exemplify the new progressive spirit with which it is now imbued, and to commemorate the achievements and honors which mark the year 1920-21.

With greatest respect and sincerest gratitude is this, the 1921 Poly-scope, dedicated to Mr. Will Winkoop Hammond, for it was to him more than to any other man that the Institute owes its inception and progress.

W. W. HAMMOND

Mr. Will Winkoop Hammond was born on March 2, 1857, in Wyoming, Illinois, and died in Peoria, Illinois, on August 24, 1920. In 1874 he entered Knox College and in 1878 was graduated from that institution with the highest scholarship rank in his class. Immediately afterward he came to Peoria. Here he began the study of law and was admitted to the bar of Illinois in 1880. During the whole of his student days, he showed the earnestness and tireless attention to the work in hand that characterized his later life. He immediately began the practice of law in Peoria and soon attained a prominent position among the members of that profession. His sterling integrity, correct judgment, and keen insight together with his unusual knowledge of the law soon made him the leading law firm in Peoria. His keenness in discerning the merits of a case, considered hopeless by others, often made his efforts successful in the State courts and before the United States Supreme Court.

In 1881, he was married to Miss Cornelia Belle Comstock, daughter of Professor M. L. Comstock of Galesburg. Their two children have both been students at Bradley. He was a modest man, unassuming, shunning personal publicity, finding his greatest joys in his home life, where he was most gentle, thoughtful and genial.

Because of his sound judgment, his advice and co-operation were sought in many important business enterprises of the city. He always took a deep interest in movements for the improvement of civic affairs and was himself a worthy citizen and benefactor, giving generously to many worthy causes.

It is, however, in his connection with Mrs. Bradley that he comes into closest touch with Bradley Polytechnic Institute. In 1884, Mr. Hammond became associated with Mrs. Bradley as the manager of her property. This work was at first carried on outside of the regular business hours, which were devoted to his law practice. It was not until fifteen or twenty years later that he gave up his law practice in order to devote more and more of his time to the ever-increasing problems of the Bradley estate.

His remarkable ability was soon recognized. Mrs. Bradley learned to trust him implicitly and to refer everything to him. It was largely through his judgment and business ability that he was able to more than quadruple the value of her property as he found it. To the task he brought a rich mind trained in scientific method; in a short time he became an expert both from a legal and in engineering point of view, in matters of drainage and in the reclamation of waste and worn-out land. His services were sought in many projects in various parts of the country, and his published articles were accounted valuable contributions to the subject.

During all these years nothing was nearer to his heart than Bradley Institute. He was close to Mrs. Bradley throughout her changing views as to the character of the Institution which she would found as a memorial to her children. He, better than any one else knew what she wanted the institution to be. He took a deep interest in the establishment of the Institute and played a leading part in the determination of its present character. He was indefatigable in his efforts and sought by every means within his power to make the Institute worthy to be an important factor in the life of the community.

Two lines from a poem which was found in his pocket-book show the character of the man:

"He doubles the joy of the life he would live,
Who gives of his fortunate strength to another."

His, indeed, was the strength that many men and women leaned upon.

Mr. Hammond was a deeply religious man, with a faith that cut through conventions and artificialities, that centered in eternal verities, and that made him a genial, sympathetic, sincere gentleman of unimpeachable integrity.

Campus

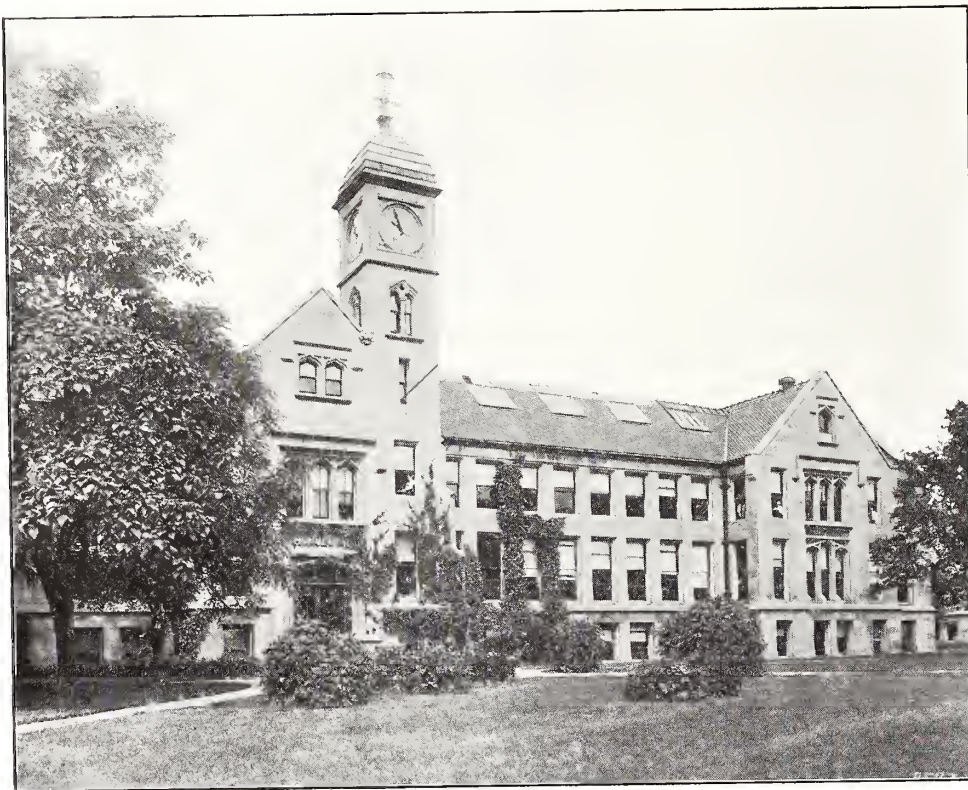

Main Hall of gray,—massive and mighty,
Pride of our campus—Bradley's glory;
Long shalt thou live in the hearts of thy children—
Home of our deepest reverence.

J. Sparks.

Retreat for hard-tasked minds and place of sports,
Where muscles harden into bands of steel;
Here athletes assemble to contend,
And then these walls with cheers for victors peal.

J. Sparks.

From this grey tower the bold-faced Herald of Time,
With measured stroke proclaims to us the hour;
No power is great enough to stay his hands,
Nor bring again the chance that once was ours.

J. Sparks.

Oh, see the flag that waves on high,
That helps to shape our plans;
Whether sunshine or rain will come,
We look to the weatherman.

THE JUNIOR CLASS OF 1921

There was a river, Arethusa, in Greek mythology which, if it lost its current in one place, rose up again mighty and swift flowing in another. During the earlier half of the school year of 1920-1921, students at Bradley might have believed that the Junior Class had lost its current in the many streams of activities, or even had never had a source. Perhaps this, to all external appearances, was true, but each Junior was ever conscious with a deep thrill of satisfaction that he was one of the members of the first Junior Class of Bradley College. Inwardly he was visualizing the rising of the current.

We Juniors did not want to spend our efforts on several petty affairs; we planned to concentrate upon one supreme undertaking,—an undertaking that would soar high above the crest of any previous social affair.

We did it! After careful consideration a Junior Prom was decided upon,—a Prom in every sense of the word. The most elaborate preparations were made. We arranged for the best of music and the best of eats for the best of people. But were we only considering our own pleasure? There was a broader ideal behind that Prom, an ideal of fellowship. We invited every student to participate in the biggest party that Bradley had ever given. Our endeavor was to take a step toward a more closely united Bradley.

We not only worked in the interest of our class and our other fellow-students, but in the interest of those coming students. We not only worked to hand down the record of the first Junior Prom at Bradley, but to set an example of comradeship for every student to emulate in bringing his "unsought tribute" to "our guiding star."

—Camille E. Mahannah, '22.

A. J. ROBERTSON—COACH.

Bradley was fortunate this year in obtaining such a man as A. J. Robertson for a coach. He has taken hold of athletics at Bradley and made a success of them. He is an athlete himself and fully understands athletics. This knowledge together with his wide experience has helped him to mould some very good teams. Both the football and basketball teams showed marked improvement during the course of the season under his excellent tutelage.

With much better material in sight for next year, Bradley should have teams that will rank high in collegiate standing because Robertson is able to produce teams that will fight to the last minute. Those who have played under him this past year know that he is a competent coach, a real fighter, and a loyal friend to Bradley.

Review of Football Season

The 1920 football season was a success although Coach Robertson was seriously handicapped by the injuries of his players. Clarno, who last year made the second all-state team, was forced to leave the team because of injuries. When Foley's leg was broken in the Millikin game, Robertson lost a very good end. Babcock, Brewer, and Gehrig also were forced, because of injuries, to remain out of many games.

Robertson's fighters were also handicapped by lack of weight. He was, however, conceded to have one of the fastest aggregations around the state. Not once during the entire season did the Tech machine battle an enemy on even tonnage.

On October 1, the team was defeated by our old rivals, Eureka. The score was 7-0. Eureka's score was counted when McKenzie passed to Driner.

The game with Lincoln proved to be a practice game for Bradley. The Tech tribe, although outweighed, piled up thirty-seven counters, while Lincoln failed to score.

On October 16, the Tech team went to Decatur to play Millikin. It was in this scrap that Foley got his leg broken. Millikin won by the score of 41-14. The Tech men have the distinction, however, of being the only team in four years to score against Millikin on their home field. Foley, Howell, and Meinen were the stars of the game.

In the next two weeks Bradley disposed of Hedding to the tune of 48-0, and Normal by the score of 10-0.

Next came the greatest victory of the season when Bradley defeated Wesleyan by a score of 14-13. Wesleyan led 13-0 with but four minutes to play, when Babcock went over for Bradley's first counter and Howell kicked goal. With but a minute more to play, Haussler of Wesleyan, fumbled. Gehrig snatched the oval and ran twenty-five yards for a touchdown that tied the count. Howell again kicked goal, and a few seconds later, the whistle announced the end of the game.

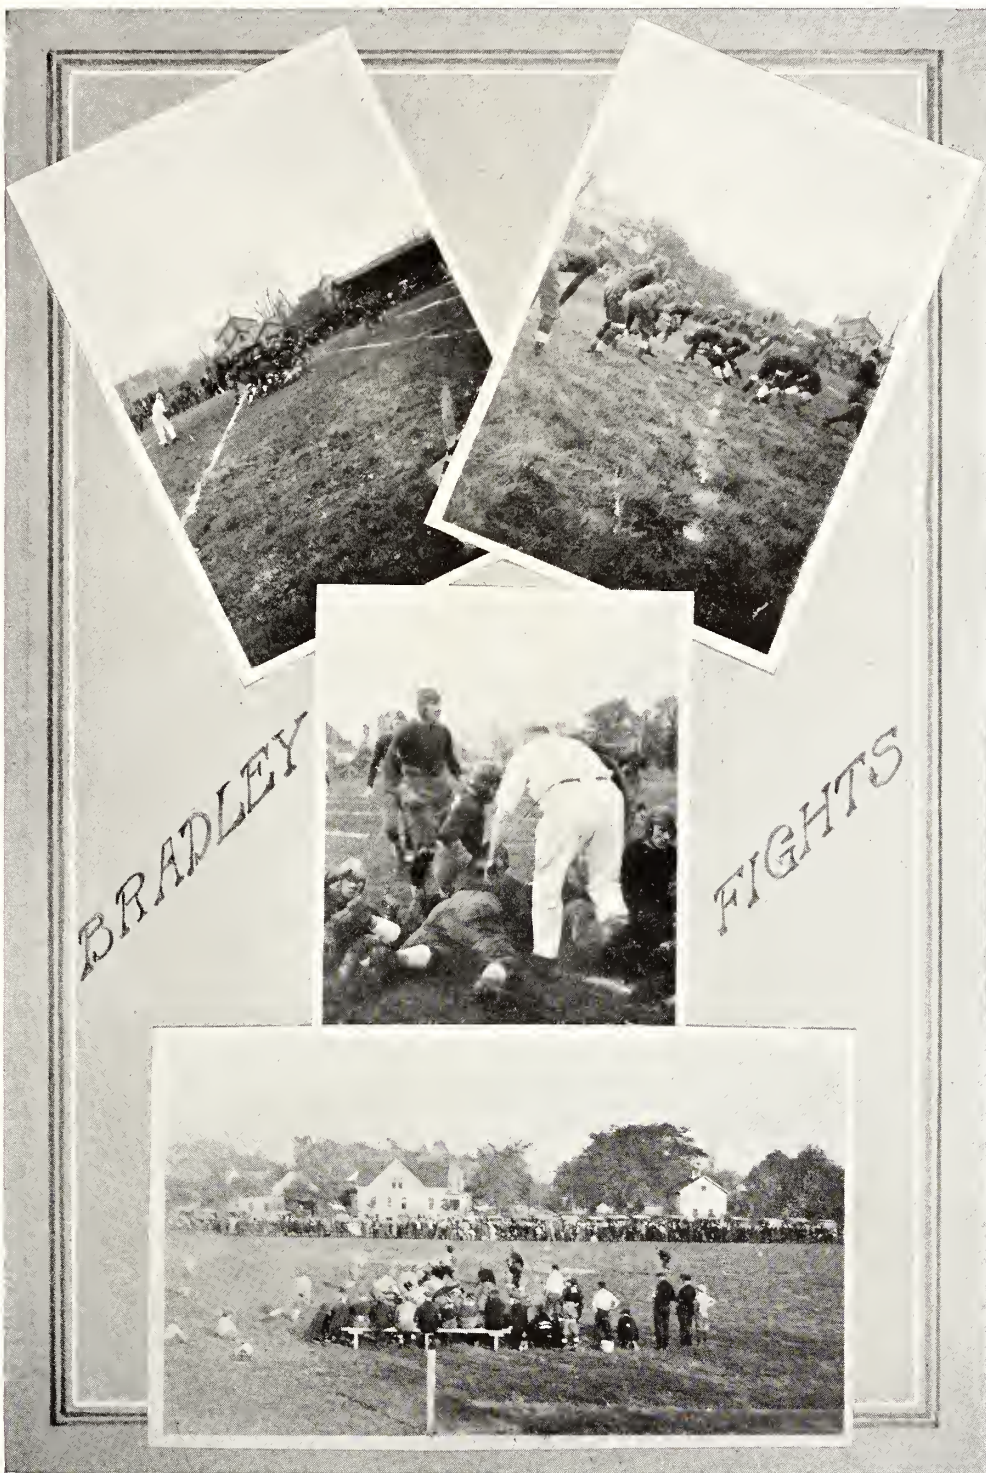

In the last game of the season, Eureka handed us a 47-3 beating. As in the Augustana game, it was a case of too much weight.

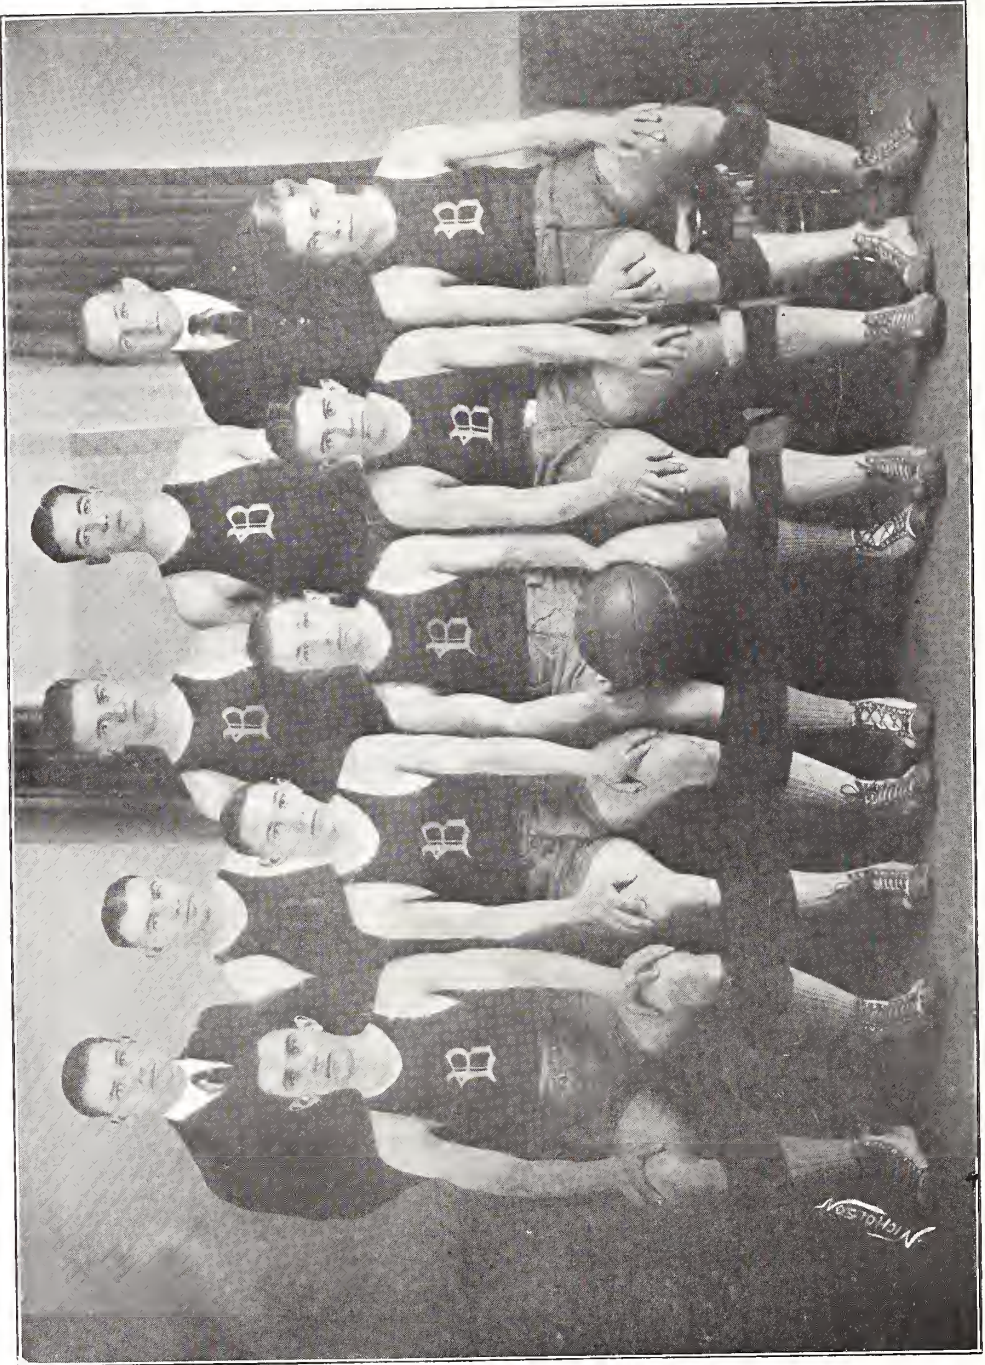

Thirteen letters were given out at the football banquet. They were awarded to: Captain Patton, Trewyn, Damon, Haeffner, Coulter, Howell, Kraker, Gehrig, Foley, Meinen, Babcock, McMahon, and Yuhasz. During the past season, Captain Patton has made a record of which any captain might be proud, for during the entire season he has not missed a single minute of duty.

PATTON—FOOTBALL CAPTAIN.

Patton was the unanimous choice of last year's men to lead the 1920 football team. He earned the right to captain the football team because of his steady playing and excellent leadership. Patton was always a big factor in every play, and his defensive game was time after time responsible for nailing the opponents for a loss. A record that anybody should be proud of was earned by Captain Patton this last season when he played every minute of every game. Bradley's team this year always fought to the last down for Captain Patton, despite the fact that on many occasions they were handicapped on account of injuries.

Basketball Season

Under the careful coaching of Coach Robertson, Bradley's basketball team passed through one of the most successful and yet heart-breaking seasons in her history. There can be no doubt that the season was indeed successful, notwithstanding the fact that she won only seven out of sixteen games, when we consider that the opponents were the strongest teams in this section of the state. Almost all of the defeats were by a close score and in most every case the defeats could be attributed to poor basket-shooting.

Coach Robertson was well pleased with the showing that the team made. He stated on several occasions that most of the defeats were due to the poor basket shooting of the team. Time after time in every game, the team would work the ball down the floor with lightning speed only to lose it because they were unable to hit the hoop. If Bradley had been able to hit the basket like she played teamwork there can be no doubt that she would have been returned the victor in most every game. Her floor play and her teamwork were always above par. Although there is nothing more disheartening than missing the hoop, the Bradley team always kept the old fighting spirit and the end of the game found them fighting as hard as ever.

The way in which the student body turned out was also a big factor in keeping the old spirit alive. All of the games were attended by large crowds and the loyal way in which the rooters backed the team shows that Bradley students placed confidence in both Coach Robertson and the team.

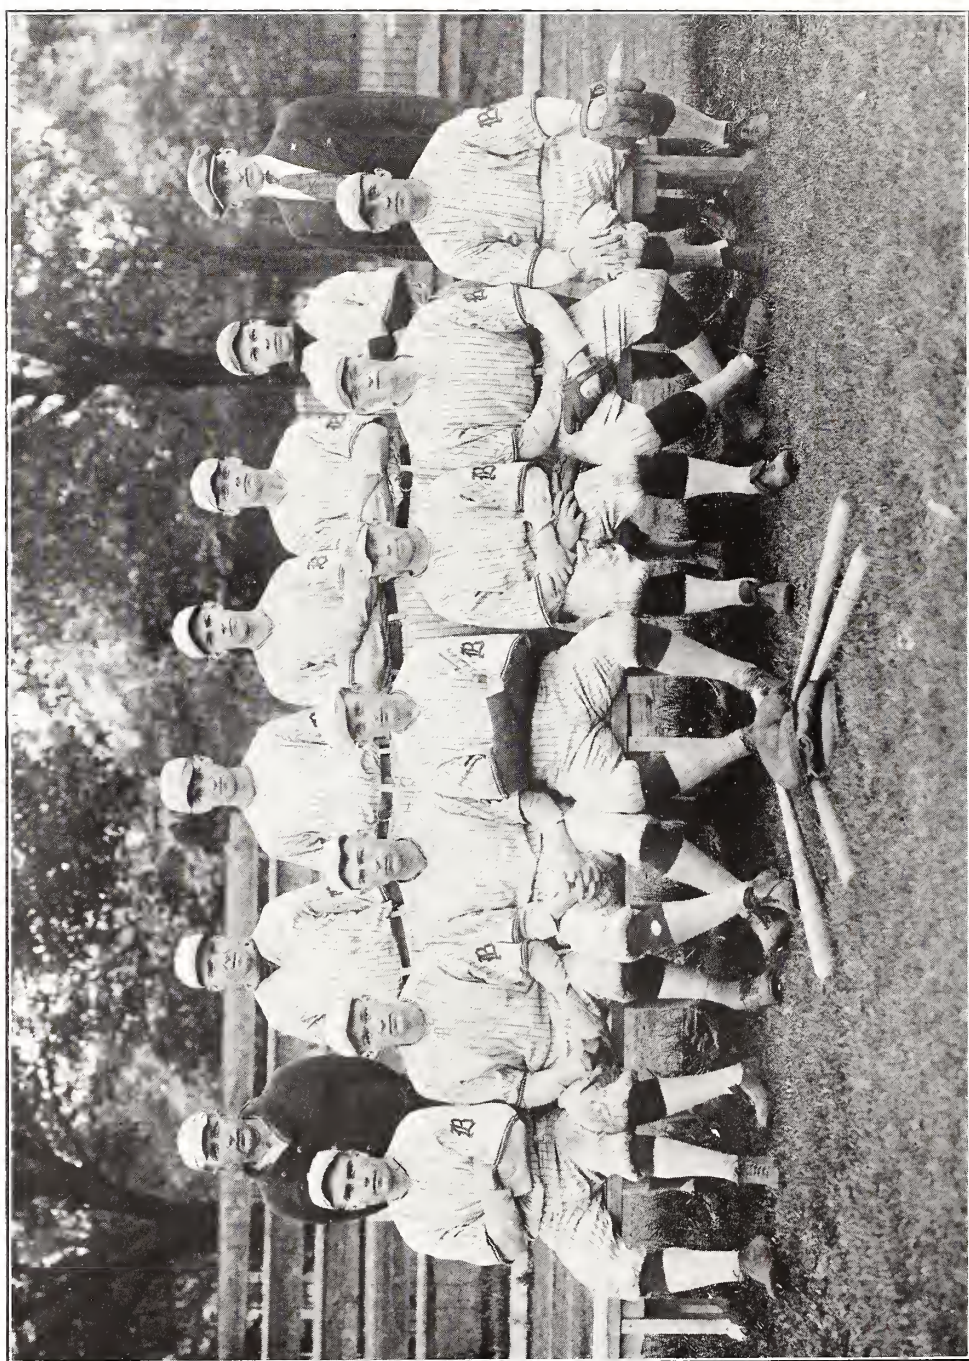

Captain "Shorty" McMahon played a great game all through the season. His floor work was indeed noticeable as well as his old fight. Rogers at center also played an excellent game. Scherrer at forward played a very scrappy game and he could always be counted on to add a few baskets in a game. The defense of the team this year was way above par and it was Meyer and Mooney that upheld the guard positions. Time after time these men broke up the opponents' play and had it not been for their fight and scrap, the scores of the opponents would have been much higher.

With the assurance that most of the men will be back next year, Bradley can look forward to a most successful basketball team for next year.

McMAHON—BASKETBALL CAPTAIN

This year when the election of a captain occurred, there wasn't much doubt as to who would be chosen, for "Shorty" has proved his mettle last year. When it came to fight, and "go-get-'em" he was always on the job. His likable personality and keen judgment made him a very able pilot for Bradley's basket ball ship of this past year.

Manager	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	Rouch
Coach	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	Robertson

CAPTAIN KELLY.

The election of Kelly as captain of this year's baseball team was no big surprise. The way in which he played the game last season no doubt won him the right to captain the team this year. Joe knows the game from beginning to end and this knowledge coupled with his old fight and pep will make him a most able pilot. Kelly plays first base and this position enables him to keep a watch on everything that goes on. Kelly can be counted on to make his team a winner this year.

BASEBALL SEASON

Bradley's baseball team will no doubt be an excellent one from early indications. Coach Robertson is capable of moulding a good team because of his experience with the old "pastime." When the first call of the season was issued, an abundant amount of material presented itself, and the hardest job that Coach Robertson had was to pick the best men for the positions. An early start was gotten in training the candidates and in a short time many good players were developed. Since it is too early to predict the season's outcome, the kind of a game that Bradley put up against Millikin should help anyone to believe that Bradley will be represented by an excellent team. Coach Robertson demonstrated this belief when he filled the schedule of the present season with a larger and harder number of games than any Bradley team has ever before played. Let us hope that Bradley will have a most successful season this year.

The 1921 Track Team

OFFICERS

Manager	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	Huck
Coach	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	Hewitt

CAPTAIN KRAKER.

Kenneth Kraker was elected captain of the track team because of his ability both as a runner and a leader. Kraker has won several letters in his career at Bradley, and he should be able to give a good record of himself this year. He has an abundant amount of material out of which a formidable team can be made. There should be no reason that Kraker will not be able to lead a very good track team this year.

TRACK SEASON.

Coach Robertson was very fortunate in securing Coach Hewitt to take care of the track team. Coach Hewitt was once a track man himself and this experience makes him a man with great track abilities. Although it is entirely too early to know what the outcome of the present season will be, there can be no doubt that Bradley will have one of the strongest and fastest teams that has ever been put out. The candidates are being worked out by Coach Hewitt as no track men have been for a great number of years at Bradley. The candidates started to train early in the season, and there should be no reason for the track teams not being in the best of condition when it enters its first meet. There are only a few of the old men back, but since the new material is very promising, and Coach Hewitt has confidence that he can build a winning team around Captain Kraker.

BOWLING.

The first bowling tournament ever held at Bradley took place during the week of March 28. The winners were as follows:

FIRST WINNERS	SECOND WINNERS	THIRD WINNERS
Federal Board Team	Bradley Hall Team	Federal Board Team
Frantz	E. Doubet	Mike Kelly
Beyer	K. Jones	E. Parsons
Mansfield	Harksrader	Stone
Luil	H. Ireland	E. Warren

RESULTS

K. Jones	168	C. Miller	160
C. Kauffman	161	E. Warren	157
G. Mansfield	161	M. Kelly	155

Bradley entered the State Bowling Tournament which was held in Peoria at the Saratoga Alleys, from April 9 to May 4, with the following team: K. Jones, C. Kaufman, G. Mansfield, M. Kelly and C. Miller. These men toppled the total of 2574 maples in the three games. Jones bowled high average with a score of 196, while Miller was low with an average of 163. Mansfield, Kaufman and Kelly average between these scores for three games. This was also the first time that Bradley was ever represented in a state Bowling Tournament. Although Bradley was not the winner, it made a remarkable showing by beating their opponents, a fast team from Roanoke. Bradley won by nearly two hundred pins and was far above many other teams in the tournament.

INTER-MURAL CHAMPIONS

Inter-mural basketball this past winter again created a great deal of interest about the Bradley gymnasium. A large number of students signed up for this popular sport, and after the drawings eight teams were chosen. The captains of the eight teams were Vernon Philips, Claude Davison, Frank Ireland, Fred Howell, Robert Gehrig, Sam Zinser, Bryant Trewyn and Marcellus Huck.

A schedule of seven games were played during the season, and the team captained by Frank Ireland won the championship after a most spirited fight with both Captain Philips' team and Captain Davison's team. The outcome of the season was not settled until the final game, when Ireland defeated Philips.

The success of the winning team was due to the high grade of basketball that every one of its members played. Time after time, they would sweep down the floor for basket after basket until the opponents were so worn out that they could no longer give opposition. The winners always exhibited high grade team work, and their excellent defense was always noticeable. Following is a summary of the season:

Team—	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Ireland	7	0	1.000
Philips	5	2	.715
Davison	5	2	.715
Howell	4	3	.572
Gehrig	4	3	.572
Zinser	2	5	.285
Trewyn	2	5	.285

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The first meeting this year of the Girls' Athletic Association was held on October 12 in the chapel. At this meeting the officers were nominated, and the election took place on the following week. The following officers were elected:

ALMA VANDENBURG	President
OPAL KELLY	Treasurer
CATHERINE DUNN	Secretary
MARJORIE PAUL	Representative from College
HENRIETTA PROCTOR	Representative from Academy
HAZEL RAMSEY	Representative from Normal
HELEN PENNEWILL	Representative on the Athletic Board

On December 15, an exhibition was held in the Men's Gymnasium. Drills, apparatus work and dancing were the main features. The financial success of the year was achieved when the G. A. A. united with the Y. W. C. A. in putting over a big circus on April 16.

Hockey, a new game for the girls at Bradley, was introduced this fall. The teams were composed of:

WHITES (Champions)		REDS
Helen Wallace	Ruth Sudenga	Helen Cafferty	Helen Jeter
Catherine Dunn	Charlotte Howard	Opal Kelly	Alta Gillet
Edith Dorsey	Doris Greisser	Andra Newell	Audrey Barton
Ethel Hawkes	Marie England	Edna Buchanan	Mary Applegren
Lucille Ulrich	Hope Gordon	Lucille Stansell	Viola Stormer
Marjorie Paul		Dorothy Greisser	Hazel Becker
	Hazel Ramsey (sub)		Althea Behrends (sub)
	Ruth Schneider (sub)		Dorothea Smith (sub)
	Ruth Conlee (sub)

There were three basketball teams. The following were on the teams.

RED (Champions)	WHITE	BLUE
Forward (Captain) . . Helen Cafferty	Helen Pennewill	Catherine Dunn
Forward Edith Dorsey	Berniece Jones	Clara Cornell
Center Lucille Stansell	Audrey Barton	Audrey Newell
Guard Hope Gordon	Doris Griesser	Beatrice Allen
Guard Doris Griesser	Cecil Richards	Edna Buchanan
Substitute Ruth Sudenga	Mabel Kent	Dorothy Hayward

Bradley was represented in the Greater Peoria Tournament by some of the Academy girls.

The girls of Bradley all wish to express their thanks to Miss Pauline Buswell, their beloved gym teacher, for all she has endeavored to do for them during the past year.

Pi Kappa Delta Fraternity

This year Bradley has been honored by the installation of the Delta chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, a national debating fraternity having forty chapters throughout the country. The initiation ceremony took place Friday, April 24, 1921. The members initiated are: James Cusack, Patrick Cusack, Gerald Allen, Walter Winget, Lee Eagleton, Jr., Clarence Wynd, Normand Hoerr, Russell Peters, Prescott Dunn, Russel Damon, and Paul Tirmenstein. Since application was made last year, the charter members are: Lee Eagleton, Jr., James Cusack, Patrick Cusack, Gerald Allen, Walter Winget, and Normand Hoerr. Mr. W. R. Marvin was also initiated as debate coach. The Eureka chapter acted as installation officers: Russell Thomas, president, officiating with the assistance of Harry Ruckteschel and Gains Cook. The fraternity has various degrees of membership which are awarded for proficiency in debating and oratory. Lee O. Eagleton has been given the degree of "Honor" since he has been a member of the teams winning two out of three debates. In the election held at the time of installation, Lee Eagleton was elected president of Pi Kappa Delta for the present year.

Any Pi Kappa Delta member who wins three out of four debates on different questions is entitled to membership in Delta Sigma Rho, the oldest and largest debating fraternity in America. All past debaters of Bradley are entitled to an honorary, inactive membership in the fraternity.

History

The Alpha Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi was established at Missouri State Teachers' College, Warrensburg, Mo., on February 14, 1916. Since that time other chapters have been added to the fraternity until now it has become a national organization. Phi Sigma Pi is known as an educational Honor Fraternity. It is open only to men who have completed at least thirty hours of superior work toward one of the four-year Teachers' Training Courses, and who have the required number of honor points for every semester of completed college work.

While the fraternity is educational in character, it does not wholly neglect the social side of life. It aims at developing this side of a man's character with the other phases of its activities. To this end, each chapter arranges social activities in connection with its regular meetings.

The organization is also professional in character. It selects men who are interested in the problems of education, and aids them in gaining the ideals that are so necessary in becoming a successful teacher. Further, its work is to keep each of its members closely in touch with present educational topics, and to foster a closer co-operation with all other teachers. It is realized that the teacher deserves a place in the professional field. Hence, Phi Sigma Pi helps each member to appreciate the real value of his work, and leads him to believe in the three great principles of the Fraternity: Knowledge, Training, and Friendship.

The local chapter, Gamma, was founded on April 23, 1921. Mr. Hanna had been a member of the Alpha Chapter while attending Missouri State Teachers' College, and it was largely through his efforts that the local chapter was formed here at Bradley. Besides Mr. Hanna there are two other faculty members: Dean Siepert and Mr. Elliott. While the three Seniors: Icenogle, Kelly, and Tirmenstein, will not be in active membership for a very long time, they leave behind them the three Juniors to carry on the work next year. One of the activities of Gamma Chapter will be to stimulate interest in the four-year Teachers' Training Course at the Institute, and it will attempt, yearly, to bring more and more men to realize the benefits that are to be derived from such a training.

Activities

THE FEDERAL BOARD PARTY.

The Federal Board men, the F. D. club, and the Home Economics Club held a joint mixer on the evening of January 28, in the Social Hall.

The party was planned for the purpose of giving the three organizations an opportunity for better acquaintance. The most sanguine hopes of those who had the party in charge were fulfilled. The informal games, card playing, and dancing gave to all of the club members an especially happy evening, and to some of the guests new friends and dates manifold.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The fourteenth annual football banquet was held in the cafeteria on the evening of December 4th.

The cafeteria was gaily decorated in the school colors. Each class was represented at different tables, which were attractively decorated in their respective class colors.

Very interesting and appropriate toasts were given after the dinner. Mr. Harold Lynch was toastmaster and called for speeches from the following people: Mr. Patton, Miss Alma Vandenburg, Arnold Hitchcock, Mr. Stock, and several prominent members of the team.

The rest of the evening was spent in dancing in the gymnasium, which was also appropriately decorated.

To Mr. David Kendall, the manager of the banquet, especial credit is due.

THE FIRST BIG SHOW IN BRADLEY

The old school has started many a new thing this year. It is a year of progress and development, of which every student may well be proud.

The finishing touch was placed, when, on the evening of Friday, April 16, Bradley's first big show opened with the gymnasium roof as the big top. A glorious and glittering parade made its way about the ring, headed by Bandmaster Arnholdt, puffed and pompous, and followed by his devoted clan of noise aggravators. Then came wild animals, beautiful riders, "feeroshus" dragons, clowns, clowns, and more clowns.

The ringmaster's whip cracked, and the main events ran off with a smoothness of a thousand years' practice. Acrobatics, dancing, tumbling, and juggling were presented to the huge audience with such finesse that their heads swam. The clowns performed hair-raising miracles, and the knocking of solid bone as they put themselves through their antics, could be heard from afar. Educated horses and men of prodigious strength assailed our powers of credulity.

The barkers cried out that their freak wares in the respective side-shows were now ready. From the Seven Veils to the Wild Man, it was the real thing.

As usual, nothing at the hall of learning is complete without dancing; so the management sponsored it. In the so-called Monte-Carlo, five thousand dollar bills were tossed about much as dimes.

At the midnight hour, the well-filled and laugh-satisfied audience made their way homeward. The lights were dimmed, and "the biggest show on earth" closed its doors.

CLASS RUSH

A class rush—for the first time in the history of Bradley—was held on Friday afternoon, April 1. The contest was between the Freshmen and the Sophomores. The first event was the so-called basketball game with fifteen men on each side. The Sophomores won. After this exciting game we observed two of the most thrilling wrestling matches in Bradley's history: Toman vs. Diefenderfer and Trewyn vs. Damon. What? Sophomores were victorious again. We find Paul Ferris as the only victorious Freshman in the contests.

THE MIKADO

"The Mikado," presented by the combined Glee Clubs of Bradley at the Majestic Theatre on the evenings of December 16 and 17, was an epoch making event for our institution.

The cast was exceptionally well chosen. George Mason assumed the comic role of Ko-Ko. Time after time, he created peals of laughter and was forced to give many encores.

Miss Edna Hackett as Yum-Yum was highly praised as a result of her exceptional ability. She played one of the daintiest and cleverest roles in the play.

Mr. James Wilton, the ideal lover, and the wandering minstrel, Nanki-Poo, carried out with exceptional finesse, his deception as the son of the Mikado.

Arnold Hitchcock, as Poo-Bah, assistant to Ko-Ko, assumed his part with the utmost skill.

The Misses Luella Carver, Edna Hackett, and Josephine Cowell as Pitto-Sing, Yum-Yum, and Peep-Ho, the three little maids from school, were very clever.

Mark Cowell made a most powerful Mikado. His unusual ability both as an actor and singer gave strength and charm to the entire performance.

Too much credit can not be given to the men and women who took part in the choruses. Their singing revealed exceptional harmony and quality. It gave evidence of some talent and much careful preparation.

To Mr. Keep the greatest credit is due, for it was he who planned the performance, trained and directed the singers, and finally made possible the successful performance.

Part of the success of "The Mikado" is due to Mr. Clifford Arnholt and Mr. Louis Triebel, joint business managers of the opera, who took charge of the advertising. Miss Agnes Smith should be mentioned for her untiring efforts in designing posters for advertising. The settings were lovely. The costumes were artistic, appropriate in design and beautiful in color.

HOME ECONOMICS CARNIVAL

The carnival that was given by the Home Economics Department for the benefit of the Practice House was one of the most enjoyable activities of the fall season. It took place in the Boys' Gymnasium on Friday evening, November 5.

As one entered the immense hall, a bevy of booths, tents, and bright colors confronted him. The center of the floor was roped off for dancing, and around this were the side shows, lemonade stands, and booths displaying many novelties and offering many chances.

The carnival was exceptionally well attended. Over five hundred entrance tags were sold to students during the week. The booths and dance floor were well patronized. The receipts amounted to over three hundred dollars.

Bradley has had fewer merrier or more successful gatherings. Fun and amusement lasted throughout the evening. Hoffman's Orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

Those responsible for the successful event were: Finance Committee, consisting of Miss Friedheim, Dorothy Fromme, Ruby Peck; Confectionery Booth Committee, consisting of Lois Hurlbutt, Emeline Morey, Bernice Hayes; Dance Committee, consisting of Margaret Bush, Mildred Strine, Maude Chamberlain; Advertising Committee, consisting of Gertrude Schoenheider, Averil Leadley, Lois Swanson; Sideshow Committee, consisting of Mrs. Moore, Dorothy Woods.

In a boxing contest of three rounds Kenneth Kraker was the victor. The conflict was fast, and excitement ran high.

The climatic event of the afternoon was the Freshman-Sophomore Class Rush. Three sacks had been fastened on the athletic field. The Freshmen lined up on one side and the Sophomores on the other. Amid shouts and gay confusion the Sophomores were proclaimed the victors.

COMBINED GLEE CLUBS AT THE MADISON

One of the largest affairs ever undertaken at Bradley in the history of the college was the appearance of the Glee Clubs, under the direction of Mr. Keep, at the Madison Theatre on March 13, 14 and 15.

The Glee Club gave a fourteen-minute act at each afternoon and evening performance in connection with the regular theatre program.

They entered from the back of the theatre and marched down the aisles singing the "Alma Mater," and then formed a semi-circle on the stage. In the afternoon, the girls wore dark dresses. In the evening the girls wore evening dresses and the boys tuxedos. The following selections were sung:

"The Pilgrim's Chorus"	- - - - -	Tannhauser
"The Soldiers' Chorus"	- - - - -	Faust
"Bradley Will Shine Tonight"	- - - - -

Accompanied by The Madison Orchestra.

Bradley not only rejoiced at the enthusiastic applause given to her Glee Clubs, but also takes pride in being the second college in the United States to furnish Glee Clubs for a regular theatre.

The Bradley Glee Clubs feel very grateful to Mr. Robinson, the manager of the Madison theatre, for his hearty commendation of their work and most generous hospitality on Monday evening, April 4, when he entertained the Glee Clubs in the second lobby of the theatre. The Madison orchestra furnished music and refreshments were served.

BETA SIGMA MU CARRIES AWAY INTER-FRAT B. B. HONORS

In a series of hotly-contested games which took place in Bradley gymnasium on March 2nd, Beta Sigma Mu won from Sigma Phi, 1921 basketball honors to the tune of 19-15.

The evening opened with a struggle between the Sophist's and the Beta's. The fast forward work of Phillips and Davison, and the stone-wall defense which Trewyn displayed, placed the victory in the hands of the Beta Sig's at the outset. Mason displayed good hoop finding, scoring three field goals for his Sophist brethren. Sixteen to six was the final score.

Alpha Pi and Sigma Phi then tried out their merits on the hard boards. Due to the efforts of Rogers and Doubet, the Phi's ran up a neat score and eclipsed their opponents with a 16-6 score.

With shouts of encouragement from their respective clans, Beta Mu and Sigma Phi went heart and soul to the mat. Phillips again showed his superior eye, although Dunne kept up a successful bombardment of the Sigma Phi hoop; thus the first half ended with a 14-10 count, with the Beta's in the lead.

The second half opened with renewed effort in both camps. Two times the score was tied; "time out" sounded every few minutes while they dragged an unlucky participant off the floor. And the battle went on. Phillips found the basket twice, the whistle blew, and with 19 to their opponents' 15, the hottest game in many a day ended.

Dancing and refreshments for all closed the first inter-frat struggle staged at Bradley. Victors and vanquished proclaimed it the best time ever.

Trophies and more elaborate festivities are planned for a similar contest next year, to which all the fraternities are looking forward with interest.

POLYSCOPE TAG SALE

Four hundred and fifty Polyscopes were sold this year, and a great deal of the credit is due to the people who, by their individual efforts, canvassed the Bradley students and sold Polyscope tags to them.

Before the Polyscope campaign began, it was announced that cash prizes would be awarded to each of the three people selling the greatest number of copies, and in addition, each was to receive a free copy and mention of his services. About ten Bradley students were given tags to sell on the day on which the campaign opened. With the first prize as his aim, each of these students began work in earnest. The field was well covered, and at the end of the race Mr. Stanley L. Kerr of the Horology Building was declared to be winner of the contest.

Mr. Kerr, the Horology editor of the Polyscope this year, heard about the campaign only two weeks before this contest opened. He laid his plans accordingly, and the day on which the tags were issued he canvassed the Horology Building. The members of that department "came across" nobly, and as a result he sold one hundred and ten subscriptions. Mr. Kerr carried on his campaign in the same spirit that he did his work for the Horology section of the year book, and met with exactly the same result—success.

The second prize was awarded to Mr. Karl Icenogle. Mr. Icenogle is connected with the Manual Arts Building, and is the editor of the Manual Arts section of this year's Polyscope. He carried on his campaign in the Manual Arts Building and met with the same success as that of Mr. Kerr. He sold ninety-four tags. Both Mr. Kerr and Mr. Icenogle gave their cash prizes to Miss Virginia Armfield of the Manual Arts Building for the aid which she gave them in their section of the book.

Miss Helen Pennewill of Bradley Hall, received the third prize. She went into this contest in the same manner which she goes into everything else—and sold eighty-five tags as a result.

The individual sales of the Polyscope were higher this year than in any preceding one, and much credit is due to those people who so earnestly worked toward this end. The Polyscope staff also wishes to thank those other people who did such excellent work in making this year's subscription go over the top.

MISS BENNETT COMES TO BRADLEY

Through the kindness of the College Women's Club of Peoria, Miss Helen Bennett, the director of the Chicago Collegiate Bureau of Occupations, came to Peoria on April 28 and 29 to speak to the women students of Bradley and the two high schools. Her subject was, "Professions for Women."

It is only within the past few years that any accurate information in regard to this subject has been assembled. Miss Bennett has been one of the most influential women in the country in getting the information before the public and in helping college girls to prepare themselves intelligently for their life work. She has also written several books, of which one of the best known is "Woman and Work."

After the lecture Miss Bennett held personal conferences with any student who desired further information in regard to specific professions. Advice was given concerning the necessary training, the place where it can be obtained, salary possibilities, and the temperamental and personal qualifications one should have to be successful in the various fields of activity.

Nearly all the leading colleges of America are arranging yearly vocational conferences for their students, often at great expense. Bradley girls are greatly indebted to the College Club for this opportunity to confer with such an acknowledged authority as Miss Bennett.

THE JUNIOR PROM

The first Junior Prom in the history of Bradley Polytechnic Institute took place on Friday evening, April 29, in the spacious gymnasium. The decorating was most attractive. Around the balcony was a network of white lattice through which were entwined gaily colored flowers. The lattice was supported by huge white pillars, and at the four corners of the gymnasium were large archways which lead to cozy rest rooms furnished with comfortable chairs and davenports. The ceiling was transformed from barren rafters to an unusually pleasing combination of pastel shades of crepe paper. There was an abundance of greenery everywhere, and at the side of each pillar were large green plants and tall graceful wicker baskets of flowers. At the far end of the hall was the orchestra platform with an attractive archway effectively decorated. At the sides were banks of greenery and ferns. Floor lamps added a soft glow to the charming scene.

The promenade started at 9:30 and was lead by Mr. Neal Dow and Miss Pauline Buswell. In the procession were many attractive and brilliantly colored evening dresses, which blended with the soft colors of the artistic decorations.

Hogan's orchestra of Pekin furnished the best of music.

In the receiving line were: Miss Clarabelle Friedheim, the president of the Junior Class; Miss Lucille Cook, the chairman of the Prom committee; Mr. Paul Holtgreve, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Burgess, Miss Ethel Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Siepert, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stead.

The Junior class is to be congratulated for sponsoring such a highly successful and attractive ball.

The committees in charge of the affair were as follows: General chairman, Lucille Cook; Finance: Neal Dow, Clarabelle Friedheim, Mary Burroughs; Program: Alma Goodrich; Refreshments: Mildred Carley, Margaret Mann, Minnie Chambers; Music: Lena Leisy; Decorations: Isal Housh, Adelaide Kanne, Garretta Polhemus, Hazel Ramsey, Fred Walker, Camille Mahannah and Fred Nelson.

Refreshments were served in the Social Hall at 11 o'clock. Over one hundred couples were present and dancing continued until 1 o'clock. Brown leather card cases, bearing the Bradley seal and containing the dance programs, were given as favors.

The artistic decorations were planned and executed under the able direction of Mr. Somlyo, a member of the Manual Arts faculty.

"DAD" ELLIOT

During March 21, 22, 23, we enjoyed having with us one of our most distinguished and appreciated visitors of the year 1920-1921, namely—"Dad" Elliot.

Mr. Elliot gave a series of lectures on the campus problems that confront the college students. He showed us the evils which are prevalent on the large campus, and warned us against them. The main theme of Mr. Elliot's lectures were: Things that undermine a student's efficiency and campus activities which should be made constructive factors in the student's life.

The fact that "Dad" Elliot was a noted athlete and fraternity man while in college, helps him to understand more thoroughly the problems of the college student of today. Mr. Elliot is a graduate of Northwestern, and a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. After he finished his college education, his entire time has been devoted to the interests and problems, so prominent and so vital, in our present-day college life.

Mr. Elliot's popularity is shown by the fact that he has frequently spoken in such large universities as Cincinnati, Minnesota, Kansas, Indiana, and Texas.

"Dad" Elliot's appearance here marked the beginning of the policy of the school authorities to give Bradley students the opportunity to hear some of the country's famous educational men.

THE AMAZONS

One of the most successful events of the year was the presentation of "The Amazons," a three-act comedy by William Pinero, on Saturday evening, May 14th. The leading roles were taken by Camille Mahannah as Lady Moeline, and Marion DeMoure as Lord Litterly, Viscount Barrington. These two characters carried out a delightful romance throughout the excellently developed humorous plot.

The chief farcial characters were assumed by Bert Ellzroth of the Horology department, and Burt Powell. Bert Ellzroth as Lord Tweenwayes, played the part of a dyspeptic nobleman to perfection, and Burt Powell, as Count de Grival, was a vivacious Frenchman.

Miss Helen Louise Wallace as Tomasin, Miss Beatrice Allen as Lady Wilhelmina, and Miss Viola Stormer as Lady Castlejordan, mother of the three girls, all took leading roles.

The play was coached by Miss Martha Hobson and managed by Clifford Arnholt. The work in scenic effects was successfully done by the Manual Arts Department.

The complete cast of characters was as follows: Lord Litterly, Marion DeMoure; Lord Tweenwayes, Bert Ellzroth; Count de Grival, Burt Powell; Lady Moeline, Camille Mahannah; Lady Tomasin, Helen Wallace; Lady Wilhelmina, Beatrice Allen; Lady Castlejordan, Viola Stormer; Minchin, Claude Davidson; Orts, George Mason; Shuter, Emiline Maury.

Conservatory

FRANKLIN STEAD, Director

Conservatory of Music

The Conservatory of Music at Bradley, although affiliated with Bradley for the first time, is by no means a new institution. It was organized ten years ago as the Peoria Musical College, and in a short time made for itself an enviable reputation. The artistic and technical ability of the teachers is recognized not only in the city but also throughout the state. Last fall when Bradley became a four-year college, the Peoria Musical College became the Bradley Conservatory. This step is a big thing for Bradley and for Peoria as well. The enrollment this year is larger than ever before, and it looks as though the success of the Bradley Conservatory will even surpass that of the Peoria Musical College.

ALBERT F. SIEPERT, B. S., DEAN OF TEACHER TRAINING

Probably no institution for training teachers of Industrial Arts in America is headed by a man who has had more experience which fits him for his position than Mr. Siepert. The high caliber of the graduates, and the significant positions they are holding are a tribute to his experience as a teacher, and his interest in the progress and increasing demands of education.

GERALDINE S. HADLEY, A. M., DEAN OF HOME ECONOMICS

"A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort, and command."

Seldom is there combined in one person the qualities of an inspiring teacher, faithful friend, and wise counselor. All of these has Miss Hadley meant to us—of the Home Economics Department.

HISTORY OF THE TEACHERS' TRAINING DIVISION OF B. P. I.

Since courses in Teacher Training for Home Economics and Manual Training were organized in 1904, this division of Bradley has constantly increased in size and in importance. Now after seventeen years of steady growth, the training of teachers of Home Economics and Manual Arts has been the one objective in which Bradley has excelled, and now it has a national reputation as an institution where first class teachers of these subjects are trained.

Up to June, 1920, this division has graduated five hundred and ninety-five teachers. Three hundred and sixty-one have been granted diplomas in Home Economics, and two hundred and nineteen in Manual Training. Ten have received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Industrial Arts, and five, the degree of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics.

Bradley's reputation as a teacher training institution has spread throughout the land and to foreign countries. We have had students from nearly every state in the Union and from Canada, the Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico, Cuba, Mexico, Japan, and the Philippine Islands.

In 1905 the class of graduates, for the teachers' diploma was composed of four women and four men. These figures kept steadily increasing until in 1916 when they reached their highest. In 1916 there were fifty diplomas granted in Home Economics and thirty-five in Manual Arts. Eight received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Industrial Arts, and two received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics.

During the years of America's participation in the World War, the enrollment fell to a minimum, and in 1919 there was only one degree and four diplomas granted in Manual Arts, and twenty-one diplomas in Home Economics. Since the war, the Federal Board for the Rehabilitation of Wounded Soldiers has sent to Bradley hundreds of men for special training.

Considering the excellent opportunities for live teachers of Manual Arts and Home Economics and the high standing accorded Bradley graduates, the Institute will, no doubt, have a constantly increasing enrollment.

Although Bradley has already granted Bachelor Degrees to fifteen students of the Teacher Training Division, the three students who receive the Bachelors' Degree this year, Messrs. Kelly, Icenogle, and Tirmenstein, have the honor of being first to graduate from Bradley since it became a four-year college. We feel certain that they have set a standard of scholarship which the following students will do well to follow.

Mr. Kelly, who has spent the four years here, has always had the reputation of being an excellent student. Although he has spent considerable time on pink teas and sorority activities, he has never failed to deliver the goods in the class-room.

Mr. Tirmenstein has displayed the same energetic and determined spirit in working the four-year course off in three years which he displayed in trying to grow a mustache. He is a master workman; his hands are more noted for their producing ability than his upper lip.

Mr. Icenogle has taken three years of college work at other institutions. Knowing the reputation of Bradley, he came here for his fourth year. He is a man of broad experience and has ability to get results. He is displaying the same courage in peace as in war, as is evidenced by his attack on the faculty. We wish him success, however, even if we have to find another librarian.

INCREASED OPPORTUNITIES FOR SERVICE

The enlarging scope of the school's responsibility as a social institution has greatly increased the range and the significance of the service for which educators are to be held responsible. In no field in recent years is this increased opportunity more noticeable than in the field of Manual Arts and Vocational Education. The co-operation between the Federal and State governments in the United States, and the Dominion and Provincial governments in Canada for the advancement of Vocational Education, and the work being done in each country for the vocational rehabilitation of soldiers, sailors, and marines have greatly enlarged our educational range. The corresponding service which is to be developed for those disabled in industry open up a relatively new and expanding field of service for those desiring to enter educational work. The newness of the service, the vital relation of the work to the industrial, commercial, agricultural, and home-making activities of the people and the relatively large number affected will call for the services not only of a great many instructors but also for many teachers capable of organizing and directing the work and of training those who are to serve in these new fields. Probably no line of industrial work will offer, during the next few years, as attractive professional opportunities.

In entering the work of training for direct vocational purposes, there is danger that in the endeavor to be thoroughly practical we think superficially regarding what is most essential in the really practical training for vocational service. Knowledge of the right things and skill and speed in manipulative processes are essential, but their value is greatly reduced if they are not fortified by habits of persistent industry and based upon sound integrity. What is needed—sorely needed today—is a people with habits of industry, guided by trained intelligence, controlled by the principles of sound integrity, and animated by the spirit of service.

HISTORY OF THE HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The Home Economics Department of Bradley Institute has been in existence ever since the school opened in 1897. A Teachers' Training course in Home Economics was added in 1905. The heads of the department from the beginning include:

Mrs. Nellie F. Kedzie
Miss Bertha Spohr
Mrs. Alice D. Feuling
Miss Helen M. Day
Miss Grace Brinton (acting)
Miss Geraldine Hadley

Mrs. Nellie F. Kedzie, the first head of the Home Economics Department at Bradley, has become well known as a home economist. She has contributed numerous articles to "The Country Gentleman" under the title, "The Country Gentlewoman," also a series of articles entitled, "The Janet Letters." She was the state leader of home demonstration agents in Wisconsin during the war, and state leader of Home Economics extension work in Wisconsin in 1918.

This year nineteen young women will receive diplomas from the two-year course. Four students have already registered for advanced courses leading to the B. S. Degree.

One of the requirements for graduation from the two-year course is practice teaching experience. This teaching under the supervision of the highly trained faculty of the department is of estimable worth. Girls from the four upper grades of St. Mark's grade school come to Bradley Hall four times a week for instruction in Sewing and Cooking.

This year there has also been opportunity to teach the grade children at the Neighborhood House, a settlement house in the slum district of the city. The problems presented have proved of special interest to the young women, who were glad to co-operate with the social service work of the city.

The opportunity to gain in the Practice House, experience as a model housekeeper, cook, and maid is one of the valuable assets of the second year course.

IN PSYCHOLOGY

Mr. Hanna (returning exam. papers)—If you don't think your paper is graded correctly, bring it to me and I'll act upon it.

DOROTHY'S LIFE JOB

Marie B.—Have you landed a position for next year?

Dot. Fromme—Oh, yes; I'm blacksmith down at the Sugar Bowl.

M. B.—What do you mean?

D. F.—I shoo the flies.

WISDOM

Jenny T., who comes from "the south," was given this sentence to repeat so she could learn to better enunciate her "R's":

"Robert gave Richard a rap in the ribs for roasting the rabbit so rare."

After a few moments' study Jenny read:

"Bobbie gave Dickie a thump in the side for cooking the bunnie so little."

Miss Jones (in Housewifery Class)—Is any Home Economic girl present who intends to become the wife of a farmer?

Several nod their intentions.

Miss J.—If you find that at haying time he has no inclination to work, put green spectacles on the cows and set a pile of excelsior before them.

DOES IT HAVE THAT EFFECT, ALMA LEE?

Miss Hadley—Give your idea of the distinction between a project and a problem, Miss Humphrey.

A. H.—A project is a—er— wh—is when, well, a problem is something that er—vh, call on some one else. I just got through with a French exam.

SAVVY?

Dr. Wyckoff—What was the wife of a vassal called in the middle ages, Miss Smizer?

F. S.—Vaseline.

HONORS

Mr. Garlick and Emiline Morey were discussing their ancestors.

Mr. G.—Once King George touched my grandfather on the shoulder with his sword and made him a knight.

Miss M.—Well, my ancestors came over on the Mayflower and once an Indian touched my great-grandfather on the head and made him an angel.

IN DIETETICS

Miss Hadley—I once tried the experiment of living on vegetables for two weeks.

Miss Strine—That's nothing, I've lived on earth for eighteen years.

HOW LONG, OH, HOW LONG?

Mr. Sedlock—I could sit here and look into your dark eyes forever.

Miss Potter's voice from adjoining room—Roberta, tell the young man that the lease on this dormitory expires in September, 1937.

SPEAKING OF PRICES

Miss Francis—Needles are fifteen cents a package now, and there are only twelve in a package.

E. Morey—Yes, and half of their eyes aren't good.

ARE YOU SURE THAT'S WHERE IT'S GONE?

Dr. Packard (in Biology laboratory)—Today you may take out the frog's heart, wash it off well, and continue the experiment on page 174.

A few minutes later cries are heard.

Zig. S.—Oh, oh, I've lost my heart! Oh, it went down the sink.

Employer (to tired-looking applicant)—Have you had any experience as a sardine packer?

H. Ramsey—Yes, I was conductoress on the Main Street car for two weeks.

1st Fresh—What keeps the moon in place and prevents it from falling?

2d Fresh—The beams, of course.

E. Hawks—Is a chicken big enough to eat when it's three weeks old?

Max McB.—Why, of course not.

E. H.—Then how does it live?

J. Taylor (showing Maude C. her products in design class)—This picture is one I painted to keep the wolf from the door.

M. C.—Then why don't you hang it on the door knob where the wolf can see it?

Ruby—Did Barnum go to heaven?

Lois—Well, he had a better show than any man on earth.

Pat—What do you charge for a funeral notice in yer paper?

Editor—Two dollars an inch.

Pat—An' me poor brother was six feet, one inch.

MIGHT BE A GOOD IDEA?

Fern Smizer—You should change your style of dancing a little.

Fat Richmond—In what way?

F. S.—You might occasionally step on my left foot.

THAT'S ONE CONSOLATION

Be it ever so homely, there's no face like your own.

Horolog—When I first came here I went to Murphy's on Monday nights so I could learn to dance Pecria style. Now when I finish my course and go to Detroit to work, I suppose I'll have to learn over again.

X. Y. Z.—Oh, no; Detroit is such a large city you can get by with any kind up there.

SOME HOME ECONOMIC GIRLS HAVE DISCOVERED THAT—

Banana peels make good slippers.
A sweet planet—the honeymoon.
A natural artist—one who draws his breath.

J.Dow—Here, Glen, give me my book; you can't appreciate it 'cause you never wrote a book.

G. Schaeffer—No, and I never laid an egg, either, but I'm a better judge of an omelet than any hen in the state.

AMEN

Miss Knight was visiting Congress. Pointing at the chaplain, she asked—He prays for the Senate, does he?

Representative—No, he takes a look at the Senate and then prays for the country.

AND HER MIND IS EVER IN "C" ROOM, HOROLOGY HALL

A. B. C.—Helen Kinney has lost her Chemistry notes again. I believe she'd lose her head if it were loose.

X. Y. Z.—Yes, you're right. I heard her say yesterday that she was going to Switzerland for her lungs.

ENGLISH 12 G

"Pair-o-dice Lost," by Paul Ernest.

Marg. Mann—Liza, have you seen my fiance?

Liza—No, mum; ah guess it ain't been in de wash yet.

CAFETERIA

Alma L. Humphrey—I just had a bowl of ox-tail soup and feel bully.

H. Ramsey—That's nothing; I just had a plate of hash and feel like everything.

BETTER NOT TRY IT

Nervous Old Lady (probably Peg Bush)—Is it dangerous to put your foot on the trolley car rail?

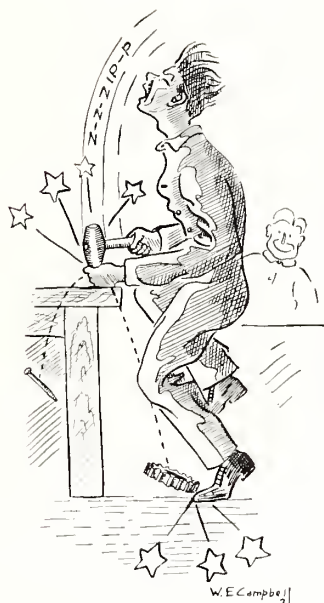

Policeman—No, mum; not unless ye put yer other foot on the overhead wire.

IN THE PRACTICE COTTAGE

Miss Hadley—Why, here's a button in my salad.

Mil Strine—Oh, that's just a part of the dressing.

AUTOMOBILE

The Automobile Department at Bradley has completed a successful year's work, under the supervision of Mr. C. M. Hewitt, assisted by Mr. A. Carter, both experienced men in Automobile and Tractor work. The former is a member of the American Society of Engineers.

FORGE SHOP

The forge work, under the supervision of Mr. P. Becker, covers the study of the different metals; the flexibility, hardening, drawing, tempering, bending, and welding. The forge shops are also used in connection with the Machinist, Drafting, and Teachers' Training courses.

This course includes the study of the various tools and materials used in the commercial repairing of tires and tubes, and actual repair shop work. Tube repairs consist of splicing and patch work, while casing repair consists of section work and retreading.

TRACTOR DEPARTMENT

The Tractor Department is one of the best known departments of the school. It is under the supervision of Mr. C. M. Hewitt, assisted by Mr. C. B. Stelle and Mr. P. Becker.

DRAFTING

The Drafting Department of the Institute has passed a very successful school year under the instruction of Mr. Wharry of the Mechanical Drafting Department, and Mr. Somlyo of the Architectural Drafting Department.

The course as given at the Institute is principally for students taking the Teachers' Training Course, Engineering, Drafting, and Machine Design. Elementary Drafting is also given to students taking the one-year course in Machine Shop, Electricity, Auto and Tractor Work.

We have had one of the largest enrollments in years in the Drafting Department. The classes are made up largely of Federal Board men, who take training under government supervision.

PRACTICAL ELECTRICITY

There is a great demand at the present time for trained electricians. Practically all of the industries use electricity for power and light, thus, the maintenance and repair of such systems necessitates the services of many trained men.

This course at Bradley Institute is practical. The students are first instructed in the use of the electrician's tools, with lessons in the splicing of wires and cables. After the student has mastered these fundamentals, his knowledge is put to practical use in the wiring of bells and annunciators. Later the wiring of houses and motors are studied. The next step considered is the construction of direct and alternating motors and generators.

MACHINE SHOP

The Machine Shop at Bradley Polytechnic Institute has passed another very successful year. Mr. W. E. Alley assumed charge of the Machine

Shop last September. He was an assistant in the Engineering Department at the University of Illinois for fifteen years prior to his coming to this school, and is a very efficient instructor.

During the year the class in Machine Shop has completed a 24-inch drill press, numerous clamps, taps, reamers, and hammers, besides repairing all machinery that it became necessary to repair, and also a great deal of garage repair work.

The school has added the following machinery since last fall: Norton Grinder, Armstrong Bros. Grinder, Hand Milling Machine from the United States Machine Tool Company, a Marvel Hack Saw, and Clipper Belt Lacer.

Mr. Hewitt (opening Tractor Building at 7:30 a.m.)—Why so early this morning, Burns?

Burns—I lost fifty cents in there last night.

MACHINE SHOP DISCUSSION?

Parsons originated the slogan, “Say it with flowers,” when he first gave his tulips to Mary.

Wenzel—Mr. Wharry, what can I draw?

Mr. Wharry—That’s beyond me.

Mr. Hewitt (selling his Ford)—My Ford can do anything a horse can do.

Customer—Well, I defy any respectable Ford to chase flies off by switching it’s tail.

Mr. Elliott—Allen, who invented the arc light?

Allen—Joan of Arc.

Rumor—Warren has decided to spend his vacation at Rex Beach.

The following tools have been suggested for the coming year by Bill Donahoe:

Ruber center punch
Sponge hammer
Compression grease pump
Differential duster
Cooling system for wrenches
Double-breasted monkey wrenches
Rubber scales for stretching to all dimensions
Generator for lightning-bug's tail.

Miller—Who belongs to this screw-driver?

Burns—The school, but for Pete's sake, don't take it while I'm using it.

Improvements we wish for 1921:

Sawdust for use in wash-bowls.
Burglar insurance for tools.
Easy chairs and cuspidors for drawing room.
Dress suit for Mr. Wharry for his short story hour.
Ash trays for garage.
Stables for the White Mule.
Silver polish for auto jacks.
Parking space for cigarette butts.

What causes the following:

Leaky differential.
Squeaky compression.
Knocking wheelbase.
Twisted steering wheel.

AIR-COOLED

Strange as it may seem, once in awhile a new student arrives who has only a slight knowledge of watch work. Early this spring, one of these experts arrived. Mr. Westlake took him in hand and was showing him around. BATTLE OF PRINCEVILLE

(December 24, 1920)

It was cold—oh, so cold that day just before last Christmas. But not too cold to prevent two heroes from venturing forth to hunt the ferocious rabbit. Up early in the morning—a cup of hot coffee—then overcoats, gunny-socks on their feet, gloves and mufflers, and the danger fraught advance began.

Out past the barn they went, then over the hill, gradually creeping and closing in on the enemy. Then at one minute past nine, the battle began. Rabbits to right of them, rabbits to left of them, rabbits in front of them, shivered and shook. Our heroes advanced, and oh! but the slaughter was awful. Streitmatter's gun grew warm, then hot. Carlton's gun jammed, but he, undaunted, continued the battle hand to hand, or rather foot to ear. Let a rabbit but show an ear and the foot of our hero would send the ear into the next county.

By noon our heroic comrades had made the world "safe for democracy," and being hungry and tired, strategically retreated in good order, leaving the field filled with their foot-prints, and bearing away the cold bodies of their victims. An armistice was patched up, but congress has not declared peace. Congress, however, has given Streitmatter the much-sought leather medal, and has made Carlton "Night of the Weekly Bath."

Streitmatter—It has a cylinder missing.

Wilde (to student leaving early)—Where are you going?

Student—No place.

Wilde—You will find that back in your bench.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN DISABLED VETERANS OF THE WORLD WAR

POST NO. 1, PEORIA, ILL.

At the beginning of the school year of 1920 and '21, there assembled at the Bradley Polytechnic Institute a group of young men encouraged by the financial aid of the Federal Board to enter this institution. On the opening day, they paused at the portals of this place of learning, seeking admission so that they might once more be allowed the privilege of fighting some more difficult battles of life. They came here in order to equip themselves with the knowledge of some trade or vocation that would help to make them self-supporting. So it was with this group of young men entwined in a thousand legislative difficulties, surrounded on all sides by administrative red-tape and inefficiency, confused and dazed by the multiplicity and duplicity of sign posts in the wilderness of suffering. Now they have little ear for the sweet promises that some day everything will clear up and be adjusted. As time adjusts the "don't's" and "do's," however, this group grasps the idea of organization.

As soon as the good news of forming an organization was spread among the boys, all seemed to endorse it heartily. The first attempt was a call meeting of a few of the Federal Board students to be held at the Federal Board office at which time plans were made for a general meeting to be held in the Tractor Building at Bradley Institute. At this meeting temporary officers were elected and plans were made to secure a charter from the National Organization of The Disabled American Veterans of the World War, a national organization which was formed in Cincinnati, Ohio, in June, 1919.

As soon as the news reached us that we were eligible for the national organization permanent officers were elected and a charter secured. After receiving the charter, there was started a membership drive, which resulted in a membership of 128 members. In addition to the charter of the organization, it is the big ambition of the boys to co-operate with the school, the Federal Board, the Red Cross, and other organizations in which they come in contact, also to maintain a high standard of morality and social relationship with their comrades who participated in the great struggle and support of democracy.

Now that the organization is established, it is the desire of the present members that the new Federal Board students coming in will lend assistance in furthering the good cause and become members of the local post.

THERE ARE FRONTS AND FRONTS

A mud-spattered doughboy slouched into the "Y" hut where an entertainment was in progress and slumped into a front seat.

Firm, kindly and efficient, a Y. M. C. A. man approached him, saying: "Sorry, buddy, but the entire front section is reserved for officers."

Wearily the youth arose.

"All right, he drawled, "but the one I just got back from wasn't."

REAL SCENERY

The American tourist in Scotland was being shown around by a guide and was affecting supreme indifference to everything.

"Loch Lomond? That puddle?" he exclaimed with scorn. "Why, we have lots better ponds than that in the United States, and those mountains are only called hills back home. Scenery? Poof!"

"Ah, but mon," retorted Sandy, undisturbed. "D'ye see those three fine big buildings yon? They're distilleries, an' they're all working."

OVERLOOKED

"I was a private," mourned Bill Jones,

"I never had no luck,

For when promotions came along

They always passed the buck."

NATURAL SCIENCE

To the Editor: I wish to express my belief that I am the only man who ever went into the army wearing a size 34 suit of underwear and came out wearing size 54. I went into the army wearing size 8 shoes, and left Brest, France, with a size 8 on one foot and size 7 on the other, both without heels. Verily, the army worked wonders in anatomy.

George Guardwell, Jr.

THE SAD PART

"Victory is sweet, but, oh, how bitter to win an indemnity and then not get 'er!"

The Federal Board for Vocational Education

On a hospital cot a soldier lay,—just a private, and only a few days before he was loyally fulfilling his duty to his country and his people at home. Then came the shell which left “another case for the hospital”; his leg was gone.

Shortly after the cry for justice, for a square deal, came from the soldier. Those who heard his cry, listened, bent their heads together, and then came the result of their struggle—the act of June 27, 1918. This was an Act of Congress providing for the rehabilitation of the wounded and disabled men who had given to their country their very best.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education was born, not as a business organization which like the oak from an acorn grew, but with a problem as great as the country, and varying in each of its thousands of individual cases. Unlike a great business organization, its personnel had not grown up with it, but had to be recruited over night. The great wonder has been the large amount of really efficient men who without thought of future or present financial gain, gave their services to a work which can only last a few years and can offer them nothing but the knowledge that they served a good cause.

Then came its serious work. The Federal Board had no previous data on conditions of training, or how best to train the men, or how best to get the men back to industrial life after completing training. They had no data for any of the thousands of the ramifications of their problem. They did not know where to find the men worthy of the training. The men had been discharged and had gone, in most cases leaving no address. They were known to be in every town, in every county, but who were they, and how could they be reached? Many plans were tried, blunders were made, but always a progress was made, and soon the men were applying for training.

Then came a new problem. Men came from all walks of life, with every grade of education. The only requirement for eligibility was an honorable army discharge, not a college degree or an eighth grade certificate. The illiterate men presented a problem that taxed the ingenuity of the board to the utmost. They demanded special attention since they had to be taught reading, writing, spelling, mathematics; in short, had to start where others started in their babyhood. But the men were willing, and the Board patient, and success has been achieved.

There were many men, "shot to pieces." Their hope was gone. They did not know or care what they should take up, or did not care what became of themselves. New hope and self-respect had to be given them, special attention and patience exerted, but the result has been worth many times the work expended.

The next problem was, where shall the men be trained? The plan finally adopted was not to build new schools, but to support those already existing; to give them patronage, and, if need be, to lend them equipment, but not to enter into competition with established schools; to obtain competent instructors, equipment, and other things necessary for the proper conduct of the schools.

This plan has been very successful. At the present time the Federal Board is utilizing the resources of over 1700 educational institutions, and are also utilizing over 8,000 stores, shops, factories, mills, and all manner of business places for the proper training of the disabled students.

How have the disabled men taken this payment of the debt to them? They are eager and willing to study. As a whole, they waste no time, for they have an objective. They have been endowed with new hope. They have something to look forward to and something to work for.

They will not be dependent on others, as they had thought they would be when they were lying, freshly wounded, in the hospital. They will be independent; they can again look the world in the face and say that they are capable of taking a man's place again in the world. They feel now that they are not martyrs, that now they can marry, can have families, and can give them the home, the education they wish them to have.

MISS SHANNON

MISS DOX

The Red Cross

As a tribute to the Red Cross Nurses, Miss Dox and Miss Shannon, we, the Federal Board students of Bradley Institute wish to express our appreciation for their many deeds of kindness to us. We acknowledge that only in a small measure can we ever repay them for the many ways in which they have most kindly and cheerfully assisted us in our efforts to equip ourselves for better and bigger things in life.

Like the Good Samaritan, they have always cared for our needs in time of want and have always met us with a cordial welcome whenever we crossed the threshold to their office. Now that some of us have finished our schooling and have gone out into the world, bigger and better men, we shall never forget the kindness of these two women.

We shall always hold a listening ear, a speaking tongue, and willing hands to assist and support the Red Cross, which we cherish most dearly.

THE RED CROSS NURSE

The battle-smoke still fouled the day,
With bright disaster flaming through;
Unchecked, absorbed, she held her way—
The whispering death still past her flew.

A cross of red was on her sleeve;
And here she stayed, the wound to bind,
And there, the fighting soul relieve,
That strove its Unknown Peace to find.

A cross of red - - - yet one has dreamed
Of her he loved and left in tears;
But unto dying sight she seemed
A visitant from other spheres.

The whispering death—it nearer drew,
It holds her heart in strict arrest
And where was one, are crosses two?
A crimson cross is on her breast!

THE AMBITIOUS SPIRIT

I struggle forward with my vision set
Upon the outline of a gleaming goal,
Which is today's objective of my soul—
The point to reach despite resistance met.

In varied duties I must not forget
To act the hero in courageous role,
To walk with vigor when I fain would stroll
Up the long incline whereon weaklings fret.

When I am weary of the hard, steep road,
And long to give my body o'er to rest—
To squander time which should be wisely spent;
My spirit bids me readjust the load
Upon my shoulders and to do my best
With effort full and unsubdued intent.

THE BIG THREE

Doughboys of an American outfit sharing a sector in Belgium with the British were much given to speculation over the insignia that the Tommies of a certain division sported on their shoulders. This insignia consisted of three question marks. After long discussion it was finally settled that they stood for:

"When do we eat?"

"Where do we go from here?"

"Who won the war?"

"FAMOUS NON-COMBATANTS"

To the Editor: Here is a handy list of famous non-combatants. By referring to it, anyone can tell who did and who didn't do the fighting over in France. The way to use the list is to read it at a post meeting and, if anybody present wants to start a fight, scratch his outfit off the list. Here goes:

Medical Dept.	Ordnance Dept.
Recruiting Officers.	C. A. C.
M. P.'s	P. W. E. Cos.
Most of the Marines.	M. T. C.
S. O. S.	Y. M. C. A.
R. T. O.'s	W. A. A. C.
K. P.'s	Cavalry.
Depot Brigades.	Judge Advocates.
Portuguese.	Regimental Hq.
Forestry Units.	Home Guards.
Liberty Bond Salesmen.	Gas Schools.
Exemption Boards.	Company Barbers.
Q. M. C.	The Division on the left.

All persons in the military service stationed at Angers, St. Agony, Blooeey, Tours, and Camp Pontanezen.

Field and general officers, including top kicks, mess sergeants, and stable sergeants.

Couriers and mail service, if there was anyone in the latter service.

Dr. P. B. C., Cherokee, Iowa.

IN 1925

Willie—My father was a captain, and he was so hard-boiled the colonel couldn't even make him salute him.

Rutherford—My father was a lieutenant, and he was so hard-boiled that he gave several of his men shell shock when he called his company to attention.

BEATITUDES OF THE FEDERAL BOARD STUDENTS

Some people stand on high places, others stand on higher places, while a few stand on the highest places. It is the ambition of us to stand on the highest places, but according to the above statement only a few are allowed that privilege.

When we leave school this year to go out into the big world to make good, there are a number of things we must consider, such as: Just what can we do and do well? What are the limits of our learning capacity? Are we willing to make a sacrifice for the other fellow?

Well, in order to be able to stand on the highest places, we must be willing to work long hours, long days, and long months. We must smile when things go wrong. Although the smile be artificial, it will have an effect on the other fellow. We must see the beautiful sunshine when the sky is filled with clouds. We must meet our fellow-men with a good morning, grip his hand with a hearty shake, and walk as though the world could not travel without us.

You may think this philosophy folly and call it nonsense. In reality, however, it has great value, which you will learn when you are holding down that new job next year.

Also let us not forget the faculty, who not only gave us invaluable help in the class-room, but who by allowing the use of the gym and chaperoning our parties added to our social pleasures.

So in conclusion, let us not forget our many ties to our Alma Mater and whenever the Vets of Post No. 1 give their annual banquet, let us come back and tell our Junior Vets in school where we are standing, on the high place, the higher place, or the highest place.

If the dates aren't here
For the stunts you've had
Throughout the year.

And just remember,
It's hard to say
Just what will happen
On through May.

So we beg your pardon
If we've overlooked
Any parties or news
In this part of the book.

PRELUDE

Fellow customers, it is with a feeling of hesitancy that we offer this section of the Polyscope. If there should be one among you who does not feel that justice has been given him, let him name the alley and the weapons and the reception committee will see that he gets a square deal.

Our policy can be expressed in the words of that great American who said, "With malice towards none, with charity for all, etc." We have been gentle with the faculty, not because of back papers due from the staff, semester grades, or because of the board of censors, but rather because of the great love and respect, which we hold for that most noble body.

We have striven in these dead columns to play to the love of notoriety of certain of our subscribers, and to please the vanity of others. If anyone resents this honor, it should be remembered that our waste basket is full of material which had to deal with better folks than you and yet we spurned it.

We salute the censors of this most noted and cherished publication. We hope they will see the labor that we squandered upon these pages rather than upon our studies. If you like it, boost it; and if you don't, compare it with your baby picture and eventually you will like it.

With "mallets" toward none, we offer you this department of the Polyscope.

DORMITORY WHIZZ BANGS

Advice to McBride—Eat, drink, and be merry. You may be engaged tomorrow.

Penny—I don't think anything would surprise me.

Dresser—That's what I thought until my roommate returned a pair of gloves.

Bernice Payne—I don't believe in kissing a man unless I am engaged to him.

Florence Morgan—My dear, what a quantity of rings you must have!

Jim—Let's sit out this dance.

M. Carley—I can't; I've lost my powder puff.

Inez Anderson—Did you know I am taking lessons in cooking now?

Verne—I tho't you were studying art.

Andy—Well, yes, interior decorations.

Lee Eagleton—Shall we go and see the show, Angel Face?

Marie Smith—Now, Lee, control yourself.

Miss Jones (in cooking class)—Miss Kinney, you may make the noodle soup.

Helen—How do you make it?

Miss Jones—Don't you know how to make noodle soup? Use your head!

Dorothy Woods (after date with Hewitt, after running up the stairs)
—Whee—Whee, whee,—w—w—Hewitt.

Alta Gillett—The more I read on a subject, the less I seem to know about it.

Doc Ashman—I see you have been reading quite a bit lately.

Miss Porter—Miss Brayshaw! you stood in the vestibule with that young man last night quite a while.

Leona—I only stood there for a second.

Miss Porter—Now, Leona, I'm sure I heard a third and fourth.

What we would like to know is,—why—when the telephone rings Leona Brayshaw always says, If that's for me ask 'im what his number is.

And some other things we would like to know are, Why Bob Perry used to linger in the vestibule. And—did Parsons really hold Pauline's hand that night.

And if our curiosity may be pardoned, why did Dave Knox and Gladys Rankin walk down town and back?

Just look at me and you'll know why
I hate that Arrow collar guy;
It's not the glory of his clothes,
Nor yet the contour of his nose,
But when we're trolley riding, she
Looks at his ad and then at me.

Prof. Tillotson—Why are you always late for class?

Triebel—Class begun before I got there.

Louis Triebel—Press that suit.

Tailor—Sure.

L. T.—I believe I had it pressed here the last time.

Tailor—I don't know; I've only been in business two years.

He—Was the exam very steep?

She—Yes, I made a sixty % grade.

Mac Schoenfeld—I want to get my picture taken, and I want my feet to show.

Photographer—Wait here just a minute and I'll get my group camera.

The Student Shops at the B. & M.

are specialized shops, featuring all that is best and newest in clothes for young men and women.

They are not the sort of clothes that just happen! They're studiously planned to meet the two-fold object of smart appearance and service-giving economy.

*“Exclusive—
but not expensive”*

“Ambition”

“Ambition has no rest”—an ancient proverb which nevertheless fits you young people of today, just as well as it did those of old.

At this point in life, you hesitate, look forward to a bright future in the world, then, like those before, you put your shoulder to, and turn the wheels of progress.

Go into business with that same vigor, eagerness, and enthusiasm shown in your school career and in play, and Bradley will be proud of you.

WHAT IS THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

"Push," said the button.
"Be up to date," said the calendar.
"Take pains," said the window.
"Keep cool," said the ice.
"Never be lead," said the pencil.
"Never loose your head," said the drum.
"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.
"Do the work you are best suited for," said the chimney.
And they were all right.

Teacher in English—Use the word "income" in a sentence.
Zimmerman—I opened the door and income the cat.

"I don't like your heart action," said the doctor; "you have had some trouble with augina pectoris."
"You're partly right, doctor," said Tirmenstein, sheepishly, "only that ain't her name."

A GEM FROM LONGFELLOW

So he killed the noble pole cat,
With the skin he made him mittens;
Made them with the fur side inside;
Made them with the skin side outside,
He to get the fur side inside
Turned the inside skinside outside;
He to get the skinside outside,
Turned the outside fur side inside,
That's why he turned the skinside outside;
Why he turned the fur side inside,
Why he turned them inside outside.

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
They stood a'spooning in the gloaming.
Against the moon stood the park custodian,
And straightway they resumed their roaming.

Edith—Busther, who is the best drethed man in your boarding house?
Bus—Why, generally the first man up.

Kendall—Can you give the translation in Russian for "cootie"?
Davison—Sure, Ivanitch!

Photographer (taking Freshman picture)—Now, children, try to look as much like humans as possible. Shut your mouths on the front row so the back row will show in the picture.

Miss Hobson—What are you doing, Mr. Anderson?
Ed.—Writing a story.
Miss Hobson—What on?
Ed.—On paper.

Mr. Marvin—Don't you know that punctuation means to pause?
Dot Griesser—Of course I do. An auto driver punctuated his tire this morning in front of our house and he paused for half an hour.

WIND JAMMERS' CLUB

WALTER WINGET.....CHIEF JAM
BUCKLEY.....ASSISTANT JAM
JOHN BERGAN.....THE REST OF THE JAM
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—TRIEBEL, DAMON, WYATT.
CLUB MOTTO—BLOW! BLOW! BLOW!

Instructor (grasping at student running down hill)—Young man, Satan must have hold of you.
Student—That's what I think.

LOST?

Coach—Have you taken a shower?
Kraker—No, is there one missing?

'NOTHER NUT GONE

L. Paul—No wonder I have five inches chest expansion!
Donahoe—Why?
L. P.—I eat Chestnuts.

GET THIS?

Twin—I met Al Fuller today, and he said I was getting fat.
Second Twin—Nothing strange about that.
Twin—Why?
Second Twin—YOU were looking Fuller in the face.

DEFINED

Beasley—Sidney, what is snoring?
Sid—Snoring is an unfavorable report from the head.

Eddie—If I were to die, you would wait for me on the other shore, wouldn't you?
Dottie—I guess so, I have to wait on you every place else.

Merchandise of Quality and Individuality

This establishment, since its founding over half a century ago, has steadily maintained a reputation as a business house wherein the highest standards in merchandise and service prevail throughout every section of the store. From these ideals we have never swerved.

School and college girls recognize the fact that Clarke & Co. apparel always portrays the latest fashions and possesses a certain distinction of style and quality that is not found elsewhere. Girls' and Misses' apparel needs are thoroughly understood by our buyer in charge of these sections.

Alert to competition our offerings from day to day represent merchandise that is most in demand, with prices always in accord with true values.

Clarke & Co.

Damon—When I was in France, I wasn't out of Champagne for three months.

Powell—Oh, that's nothing—all the time I was in the navy I wasn't out of port."

"Leona," asked Miss Constance, "what is a synonym?"

"A synonym," said Leona, "is the word you use when you can't spell the other one."

Lines in Physics all remind us,
We should strive to do our best,
And departing leave behind us
Notebooks that will help the rest.

His grave's not here,
For he was scattered
Far and near.

Here lies what's left
Of Samuel Blimm;
He got all wet,
But couldn't swim.

SIGMA PHI

One thing that the Sigma Phiddles are noted for is their versatility. To be explicit, we have Kellys, a Campbell, a Toman, gentlemen, and a hero. This versatility is proved by the photo-gravure given free with this write-up. The three well-balanced young fellows are evidently in deep thought. Reading from left to right, the first might be dreaming of chips off the old block; the second, of how to be happy though married, and the third is meditating of past athletic prowess. The editor of the Tech is one of us. His brilliancy is a great asset to our noble group. 'Ray for us. Almost forgot to say that we make the whole school dance to our music.

BETA SIGMA MU

Dog gone that artist! Look at what he's done. We are only twenty-four. We are well represented in athletics, school activities, etc. Take our Haman, for instand. He's out for the two-twenty. He weighs two-eighteen now, and is going strong. It might be well to note that after a hard struggle with our friends, the Sigma Phis, we copped the inter-frat B. B. championship. No, our pledge is not named Walker. (He should be). Those of us on the debating team should greatly aid our school's chances, as they are the champion argufiers of our meetings. One of us is inclined toward the literary. He wishes us to announce the publishing of his book, "The Fickle Feminine!" Goo' by.

ALPHA PI

Yes, the Pi tribe is still alive and going strong. Although defeated in the inter-frat basketball war, our hopes are far from squelched. We cannot truthfully say that our pledges cannot be beaten, because they were; at length, and severely. This ethereal portrait you see alongside shows us at our best. We shall not name the characters portrayed, but the name of the picture is "The Parent's Dream," or "Life in a Frat Meeting." We are songsters and consider that we have made the Glee clubs famous. We have no casualties from the class rush. Well, if you insist, we will tell you that the little devil in the picture is Hitchcock!

OMICRON KAPPA KAPPA KAPPA

We are a society of fourteen passive members, and the possibility of an active one is always uppermost in our minds. That artist has gone and fixed up a fine cartoon here, we must say! It must be explained. The regal lady with the lorgnette is not looking condescendingly upon anyone. She is merely observing a young man's frescoed mustache, and endeavoring to pierce this disguise, as it has completely changed his appearance. We are often called heartless by our enemies. It is true that we do not try to save our pledges' soles, but that is a mere triffel. Our charity ball was its usual success, and we are, as usual, elated. That'll be all.

We are the BIG Men of the College

WE lead the social whirl. We originate the latest steps in dancing.

DELTA KAPPA

It sure did make us put on our thinking Kappa to decide what to say for ourselves. As depicted in the accompanying scenery, we are devoted to the cause of labor. When we are through here, our graduate cooks will make history in the world. We are very energetic, attend all the games, and cheer wildly. We have one little reoter who is wonderful, and we challenge any of the masculine tribe to compete with her, either in volume or variation of sound. We are behind the Y. W. C. LAMBDA PHI

Can it be true that we are again asked to appear in print? Yes, it is evident that we have done much for our college. Our "Fads & Fancies" have shown our talent and fund-raising ability. Observe the unretouched cartoon shown here. Yonda fair beach maiden and her colleagues made one big hit on the boards in the above named production. One of our chief pleasures is in an hourly inspection of the campus to find out conditions. For example, on warm days we keep a close guard on the Tombstone so that it shall not be disturbed. We are well-represented at the dormitory. Yer wekkum.

A tinkle of the bell,
Thunder in the hall,
A tremble of the staircase—
Lunchtime, that's all!

"You're an awful bore," sighed the Cork.

"Huh! I've got you out of many a tight place," retorted the Corkscrew.

CAMPUS DICTIONARY OF DATING TERMS

“KEEN DATE”—To be called “The keenest date I ever had,” is the greatest compliment a girl or boy may receive. It brings more pleasure than any other compliment he, or she can receive.

“DEAD DATE”—A dead date is one when both of the daters wish never to see each other again.

“BLIND DATE”—A blind date is one arranged by a third party, the daters having never met before.

“REGULAR DATERS”—Regular daters are students who date exclusively with each other. Some regular daters step out once every week-end and others three or four times a week.

“CO-EDING”—Co-eding is afternoon, or between class date. These dates are usually spent on the campus.

“ENGAGED”—This is the term applied to regular daters by those who wish to break in on them.

A few facts gathered by interviewing Bradley's most prominent Co-eds

WHAT IS A DATE?

A date is a social engagement, or the term may be applied to the man or girl participating in it.

MOST SUCCESSFUL DATES

MAN—He must be congenial, peppy, a good dancer, and well dressed. He is most successful if he owns a car, the degree of success depending on the size of the car. If he takes his girl out to shows, dances, and dinners, he is considered a "live one." Prominent men in the university and fraternal life always rank ahead.

GIRL—She must have a radiant personality, a good sense of humor, enthusiastic manner, and be a good dancer. Good looks help toward making a girl popular.

A CO-ED ROMANCE
Told in Dates. As Staged by the Fates.

ACT ONE THE BLIND DATE

He was a stranger,
She had no mate.
A mutual friend arranged the date.
The fates confer,
How shall it be?
Will they agree,
And date next night,
And the date be keen! keen! keen!
Or will their souls,
Have opposite poles?
And each agree,
To date no more;
And the date be dead! dead! dead!

ACT TWO THE DATE or SOCIAL ENGAGEMENT

(SHE) At last the night,
How bright her visions,
Of this new knight:—
As she flies to answer the pealing bell.

(HE) While he with heart a-throb,
The maiden meets, and they
Arrive at last, and brave the college mob.

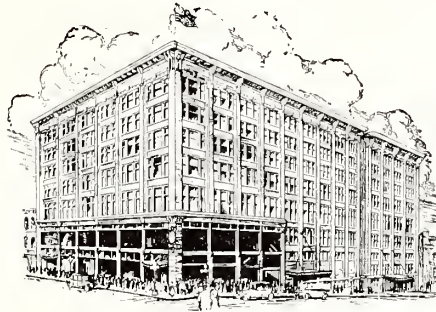

(The fatefull hours)
WILL the seconds lag?
Will the hours fly?
How will it be?
Oh me! Oh my!

ACT THREE FINUS

WHICH? A dead date, or a keen one?

THE KEEN DATE

He and she,
And no other,
'Twas a gay night.
And as they home-ward ride—
With faces bright,
And hearts alight;
They swiftly date for ye next night.
Then softly murmurs fate,
T'is a keen, keen date;
T'would seem they 'll mate.
